GOVERNOR DECLARES DEATH SENTENCE

Friday morning Pilate's questioning showed Jesus was innocent. When he heard Jesus had taught in Galilee, the governor eagerly referred Him to Herod for trial. But—disappointed that Jesus wouldn't perform some magic—Herod and his soldiers dressed Jesus in royal clothes, made fun of Him, and sent Him back to Pilate. As it was customary to release a prisoner at festival time, Pilate offered to free either Jesus or Barabbas, held for murder in a revolt. But the mob, urged on by the priests and elders, shouted: "Free Barabbas! Crucify Jesus!" Pilate told them he could find nothing against Jesus. He had the innocent Prisoner lashed with scourges, and the soldiers mocked Him, beat Him with a staff, and jabbed a crown of thorns into His head. Then Pilate put Jesus before the mob and said: "He's not guilty of anything. Look at the Man!" But they all continued to scream, "Crucify Him! Kill Him!" So, to placate the mob, Pilate handed Jesus over to be executed by crucifixion.
