A black and white photograph of a large, dark, cylindrical object, possibly a barrel or a container, standing in a room with a brick wall and a tiled floor. The object is the central focus, and the lighting creates strong shadows and highlights, emphasizing its texture and form. Festival of the Christian Home

John 16:5-15

About the cover: Jesus promised to send the Holy Spirit to his disciples and to all his followers when he had left this earthly life. The Spirit now is present with us in this world and declares to us the meaning of Christ, guiding us to him who is the way, the truth, and the life. One of the visible signs of the presence of the Spirit in the church is the sacrament of Baptism. In this sacrament the Spirit declares unto us God's renewing power in Christ; what is his becomes ours. The font and the dove on today's cover testify to this truth.

THE CHRISTIAN FAMILY

Christian Family Week culminates in today's observance of the Festival of the Christian Home. For the development and enrichment of family life, the Division of Christian Education of the United Church Board for Homeland Ministries makes available tape recordings of family worship sessions and guides to Christian nurture in the home, in addition to the ongoing education provided in the United Church Curriculum, and the Division of Evangelism of that Board publishes the bi-monthly periodical Family Devotions.

On the role of the Christian family in the total witness of the church, the Reverend Walter E. Dobler of the Division of Christian Education recently observed, "If we 'live and move' in the joyous recognition that at the center of creation and at the heart of our own being is a loving and saving God who calls us to an ever more dedicated obedience, then our life as a family will become richer in its own relationships. This recognition will make of our family an agent of service and reconciliation in all the areas where the family and its members find themselves."

As an aid toward this end, the Division of Christian Education and United Church Press have published a Family Resource Book Growing Up in the Family. In the words of the authors, Eleanor and Truman Morrison, ". . . God is at work in our lives and our families, if we but have eyes to see. We can know his redeeming and renewing work in brother-sister rivalry and devotion, in parent-child alienation and reconciliation, in family crises met and survived. As we recognize that we are rooted in a Power beyond ourselves whose deepest nature is love, we are sustained and supported. As we act on our faith that good is stronger than evil and that love is more powerful than hate, we grow in our Christian faith."
