FROM THE PASTOR'S READING

"We hear very much about confessions of faith but we hear very little about confession of sin. People are very vocal about their opinion but rather silent about their wrong doings. It is interesting in reading the Bible, to discover how few and far between are the personal confessions of sin which men have been willing to make."

From The Interpreter's Bible

"34.3 million Americans live in poverty.
69% of these are white. 46% live in rural areas. 85% of all farm families in poverty are white. In metropolitan areas, 10.7 million whites live below the poverty line. In the 'inner-cities', whites constitute 5.6
million of the poor, and blacks, 4.4 million"

From the office of the Minister of Metropolitan Strategy.

self and by so doing to indicate that you

THE CONFESSION OF SINS

Pastor: The Lord Christ has invited all who are weary and heavy laden of the burdens of living and of sin to come unto Him and He will give them help and forgiveness. Thus may we, as those who believe our Master, now bring unto Him our plea for forgiveness.

People: Lord Jesus, who has promised that through Thee God will forgive our sins and shortcomings, we confess that we are mindful of our sins and desire the forgiveness which only can come from Thee. Grant us humble and penitent hearts so the forgiveness can be effective. According to our sincerity in this moment, cleanse our hearts, and give us that peace which passeth all understanding. This we ask through Jesus Christ our Lord. (Amen)

THE CONFESSION OF SINS

Pastor: The Lord Christ has invited all who are weary and heavy laden of the burdens of living and of sin to come unto Him and He will give them help and forgiveness. Thus may we, as those who believe our Master, now bring unto Him our plea for forgiveness.

People: Lord Jesus, who has promised that through Thee God will forgive our sins and shortcomings, we confess that we are mindful of our sins and desire the forgiveness which only can come from Thee. Grant us humble and penitent hearts so the forgiveness can be effective. According to our sincerity in this moment, cleanse our hearts, and give us that peace which passeth all understanding. This we ask through Jesus Christ our Lord. (Amen)

WHIT SUNDAY

The supreme gift of the Holy spirit is love; and love is defined for us as the very life of God - the love of the Father for the Son and of the Son for the Father. This love is given to us; into this love we are incorporated, here and now, in this life, as a foretaste or instalment of the eternal life of the sons of God. This is the gift. It is also the commandment. Love is a gift: but it must also be learned and practised. Pentecost is an act of God: it is also a summons to become what we are, the loving family of God.

TRINITY

Humble yourselves under the mighty hand of God, says St. Peter. It is not easy to know whether we do so or not, though most of us imagine that if we met God face to face we would be humble and reverent. St. Peter also says: All of you be subject one to another. This is an easier test to apply. Think of your husband or wife, your mother and father, your school teacher, your boss, your subordinates, your neighbours. Have we learned humility towards them? If we have not, we have reason to fear; because a man who has not learned to be subject to his neighbour will certainly not have learned to humble himself under the hand of God. Humility towards God, like love towards God, begins with humility towards one's fellow men - As St. John says: He who loveth not his brother whom he hath seen, how can he love God whom he hath not seen?
