Men thought they had buried Jesus.. "He will never again tell the people we are hypocrites never again drive us away from our profits in the temple."

But on the third day the seal of the tomb was broken.. Jesus arose and appeared unto his disciples.... Right triumphed over Wrong.... A new day, and a new hope, and a new world dawned for the sons of God....

Easter morning was the beginning of Christ's ministry, through his ever-increasing host of followers, out across the earth. Instead of the end it was the beginning of his church... Instead of the end of a life it was the beginning of many lives consecrated to his service in a hundred lands and a thousand tongues.

Death was but the Prelude to the Resurrection.

The Cross became the symbol of life and of hope.

The hiding, scattered handful of followers became the bulwark of the church, the forerunners of the new order.

Though there are men who today are seeking to destroy the Church of Christ, the Christian Church still lives. It is constantly being purged in fire, but will continue to rise purer and more worthy of its Master. There are two utterly irroconiclable philosophies struggling across the earth - ungodliness and godliness. And we know the answer, the outcome.

Because Easter is a reality, the outcome will be on the side of God.

United Evangelical Church

June 20, 1971

A few years ago the National Father's Day Committee suggested ten guideposts to a safe and better world, and a happy and peaceful family life. These guideposts are valid for our day also, and are worthy of our consideration:

"The wise father -

encourages a respect for other nations;
an understanding of other peoples.

gives his child confidence through the safety of a happy home.

teaches his child that he is no better than others, despite any difference

is quick to offer a helping hand in time
of trouble

schools his child in good sportsmanship
and fair play - win, lose or draw gains respect and love of his child not only by force but through companionship

and wisdom

teaches his child the importance of good citizenship, by his own activity in community affairs

instills in his child a respect for law

teaches his child that intolerance and ignorance are alien to a world of peace

through spiritual guidance, teaches his child that greatness and goodness go hand in hand. from 'Sunshine Magazine'

TOTENFEST

"For me to live is Christ, to die is gain."
This is a personal testimony of the Apostle Paul this can become a motto by which each of us live, and die.

Our lives are to be tied in constantly with the Christ. Every day is to be lived to His honor and glory. And living thus we can find life full and joyous. But we can also know that which awaits the believer in glory far supercedes any joy, fulfillment or achievement in life.

Yes, to die is gain, no matter how precious human life can be for us. Because we know this we can look in expectation to that time when we will be reunited with those departed loved ones we remember this Totenfest. For then we too shall be with our Lord in glory, the greatest gain of all. Thus we live consecrated lives here so we may be prepared for joyful lives in the hereafter.

CHRISTMAS - - - 1971

A little Child,
A shining star.
A stable rude
The door ajar.

Yet in that place,
So crude, forlorn,
The hope of all
The world was born.

Anonymous

Our Hope certainly is centered in Him whose birth we celebrate at Christmas. Not only the hope and certainty of His guidance and protection throughout our life here, but the hope and certainty of His watchfulness when this life is over.

Thus we rejoice in presenting our Memorial gifts to our Church, holding dear the memory of our departed loved ones and rejoicing in their eternal life through this same Lord and Master, and, our fellowship with them in spirit now and in reality when we too move on into eternity.
