

RURAL LIFE SUNDAY

Rural Life Sunday, the fifth after Easter, which has its roots in the Rogation Days, is a day set apart for emphasizing the meaning of Christianity for rural life. This celebration had its origin in a day when the vast majority of people were tillers of the soil, society was relatively simple in structure, and the lines separating rural and urban were rather distinct. In such a day, the singular invocation of God's blessing upon the tiller, the seed, and the soil, was meaningful and highly relevant. Therefore, we emphasize man's dependence upon God.
