MY CHURCH

Tis a sacred shrine, this Church of my faith,
It's a temple where men of every race,
May worship Him who died to show God's boundless and loving grace.

Tis the Church for which our fathers gave
The last full measure of their love.
We revere them now in fond memory,
They obeyed the call from God above.

Tis a hallowed place, this pew where I pray,
It's a tryst with my gracious friend and Lord,
I bend my ear to hear his voice,
The comfort of His own word.
For 'tis here He tells me of His love
And pardon of my sinful heart.
He withholds no prize, He will ask no price,
Tis a gift He's promised to impart.

Tis a holy thing this heart in my breast,
It's the place where Jesus e'er would dwell,
He would stir in me the desire to be
An evangel His truth to tell.
He would give me strength to live the life
Of all the saints who've gone before,
To build His Church the House of God,
That will stand both now and evermore.
